

PS 105 : Introduction to Psychology

Students gain an introduction to the study of human behavior and cognitive processes. Topics include biological foundations of psychological processes, lifespan development, learning theory, personality theory, perception, memory, states of consciousness, stress and emotions and social psychology, among others.

Discipline SS, PS, CR, GE

Credits 3

Prerequisites

None.