

NUR 212 : Nursing Foundations II

This course introduces students to fundamental concepts and skills related to professional nursing practice. Nursing process and clinical judgment are utilized to design care for patients with common health alterations. Emphasis is placed on therapeutic communication and competencies related to quality and safety in the provision of patient care. These concepts and skills are presented in the classroom and applied in the lab setting.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

All previously required courses per academic plan.